PARKS & RECREATION PROGRAMS, PEOPLE AND FACILITIES RECEIVE AWARDS.

Glendale's programs, people and facilities received awards at the annual Arizona Parks and Recreation Association awards banquet held Wednesday, Aug. 27.

The 2008 Outstanding Educational Program Award went to Sahuaro Ranch Park Historic Area. Sahuaro Ranch Park Historic Area Education Program is a part of Sahuaro Ranch, a historic site which operated as a farm from 1886 to 1980.

Many of the ranch's buildings still stand today. Under the guidance of the Glendale Parks and Recreation Department, Sahuaro Ranch provides a free education program for elementary school-aged students, both through schools and for families. Historic places such as the ranch afford visitors a chance to experience an authentic past, and the ranch is a link to Glendale's traditional agricultural identity. Read more.

The 2008 Community/Neighborhood Special Event Award for Populations Over 100,000 went to GlendOberfest, the city's annual fall festival. GlendOberfest 2007 was held at Sahuaro Ranch Park Historic Area. A costume parade, carnival games, carnival rides and other traditional activities were set within the historically appropriate context of the park. The Glendale Historical Society helped maximize the historic themes and learning experiences that made this such an extraordinary social and cultural event. The 2008 Outstanding Facility Award for Populations Over 100,000 went to Glendale's X-Court. The X-Court is a state-of-the-art custom designed facility to accommodate the use of skateboarders, BMX bikes, in-line skates and scooters alike. It is a no-fee facility measuring nearly 30,000 square feet of rideable surface. The facility also offers a 1,400 square foot, full-service concession and pro shop. Read more.

Disabilities Commission Grants. The city is offering grant awards of up to $500 to eligible 501(c)(3) non-profit groups that are located in Glendale, or whose target clientele include Glendale residents with disabilities.

To be eligible for a grant award, organizations must use the funds to assist in providing or improving social, cultural, physical or sustenance benefits.

The grants are intended to assist qualifying groups in initiating new programs or enhancing existing programs and services. They are also available to help organizations develop or enhance social programs and to make improvements to existing facilities. Grants of up to $500 are awarded semi-annually, in the spring and the fall, to qualifying organizations. Click here or call (623) 930-2297 for more information.

The 2008 Volunteer of the Year Award was presented to Ted Hansen. Cholla District resident Ted Hansen is a dedicated volunteer. He walks the talk by committing his time to promoting and advocating for parks and recreation. Hansen served on the Glendale Parks and Recreation Citizen Advisory Commission for the past five years and was selected to serve as the Commission's Chairperson for the last three years. In addition, Ted was recently appointed to serve as Arizona Parks and Recreation Association's Citizen Board Representative to the National Recreation and Park Association Citizen Branch. He dedicated numerous volunteer hours to the needs assessment phase of Glendale's new Foothills Recreation and Aquatics Center. Ted hasn't left out his family. He serves as a youth sports coach for his two children's teams. Ted Hansen represents what it means to be a park and recreation advocate and volunteer.

The 2008 Professional Award was presented to Shirley Medler, Deputy Director of Glendale's Parks and Recreation Department. Shirley oversees citywide recreation, special events and facility operations, and directs a staff of over 200 full-time and part-time park and recreation employees. Shirley has been a leader in the Arizona Parks and Recreation Association by serving as President, board member and committee member and served as the National Recreation and Park Association State Affiliate for Arizona. Her greatest personal attributes that make her so effective in her job and one of Glendale's most appreciated and liked employees, are the kindness, sense of humor and caring heart with which she approaches her job, her fellow employees and her life.
